Pet Hospital Approval

A full house greeted planning commissioners yesterday afternoon, but midway through the meeting it became apparent that the audience was only interested in one matter, that commissioners act favorably on an amendment to the municipal code which would allow V. Joseph Marasco, D.V.M., to have a veterinary hospital and dog grooming establishment on Torres Street between Fourth and Fifth avenues in the C-2 zone.

Those who spoke in favor of the project were Miss Ethelinda James, Mrs. Victor Deé, Mrs. Paul Hill, Mrs. W. E. van Loben Sels and Walt Pilot, owner of the property on which the animal hospital will be situated.

After commissioners indicated approval of the ordinance to allow the pet hospital under a conditional use permit, all but four members of the audience departed. The present animal clinic operated by (Continued on Page Eighteen)

Citizens To Ponder Override School Tax

Economy-conscious but tax-cautious, the Carmel School Board last night tabled a resolution calling for an override tax election early next year until it can consult with a citizens' group.

Fifty cents or something more—that was the question as board members looked over the requested resolution prepared by the administration. The resolution orders an election for voters to decide whether or not to continue the maximum tax rate at $2.15, keeping for another five years the present override tax of 50 cents which would otherwise run out at the end of this fiscal year.

The board decided to bring in names for a proposed citizens committee at the next board meeting, immediately after which a study session will be set.

Projected figures have shown that the override, if passed, would cover expected increased operational costs; now trustees are wondering if it will also cover the hoped-for superior quality of education in Carmel schools.

Dr. Richard Snyder, board member, said he felt the public should be consulted on the basic question of whether it wants lower taxes or continuing superior educational standards.

Most of the board generally agreed that consultation with a citizens committee would be one way to sound out public opinion at the outset.

"I've been called a 'hardmoney man,'" Dr. Snyder said. "I would consider it an even greater compliment to be thought of as a 'hard education man'."

City Hall Fireplace Condemned

City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, California,
19 October, 1962.

City Clerk and City Hall Employees, Carmel by-the-Sea, California

Dear Sir, Ladies and Gentlemen:

It has been brought to this department's attention that the City Hall is currently using a fireplace in violation of Fire Code 1622, better known as the "No Fire Screen — No Fire!" ordinance.

In view of the above information, we are forced to condemn said fireplace at City Hall and inform the residents and users of the building that violators of the fire code will be prosecuted.

We do not want to appear petty about this matter, but this "No Screen — No Fire!" code was enacted for a very good reason. That reason: All of history's biggest fires have been started because fire screens were not used in front of the fireplace. Our fire records show that Rome burned when a royal palace fire screen was utilized as an ingenious musical accompaniment while Nero was fiddling around. As the court musicians were playing on the fire screen, a hot ember popped out onto a bare skin and the palace caught fire. The Chicago fire was not started by Mrs. O'Leary's cow, as commonly thought, but as a result of the fireplace screen being used to strain buttermilk... no screen, another hot ember! Many historians believe the great fire in San Francisco in 1906 was started not by the earthquake, but for lack of a fireplace screen at Madam Johnson's Saloon and Guest House.

The SPCA joins us in this protest; they bring up a point which we had not thought of: "If City Hall burns for lack of a fireplace screen — what, oh what! — will happen to the little termites?"

This case will then become a police department matter as you will be held responsible for criminal negligence and termite extinction without proper state licensing... not to say anything about city ordinances requiring business licenses. Finally, there is a normal point involved—one which you apparently choose to overlook: This is the termite mating season!

We therefore strongly recommend and forcefully urge the city purchase and use a screen in front of the fireplace. Otherwise, there will be trouble with the state, the SPCA, the police and fire departments.

Respectfully submitted,
R. E. Smith, Chief
Fire Department
CC: SPCA,
Governor Brown
Police Department

M. De Neale Morgan—the "M" stood for Mary—painted Sparkling Sea (above) in mid-career after having pioneered as one of the first, if not THE first, working colonist in what became a celebrated art colony—Carmel.

It is particularly appropriate then that this week, which has been designated as Art Week, be climaxed by a showing of her paintings at a two-day open house for her friends and admirers in the very studio she occupied from 1909 until her death in 1948.

Miss Morgan's austere coasts and brooding cypresses, the tissue-thick mists and stunning sweeps of ocean which gained her international fame, will be on view in a show prepared by her sister, Jeanie Morgan Klenke, in the studio at Lincoln and Seventh streets, from 3 to 9 p.m., both Saturday and Sunday.

When Miss Morgan first came to Carmel in 1903 and when she settled here several years later, the studio built by Sidney Yard, noted California watercolorist, later bought by Miss Morgan, stood on a dusty country lane across from the small, square community church which became the Church of the Wayfarer.

Her first Carmel painting was done, however, in the studio of Mrs. Frank Powers in the Powers' home near the Carmel dunes. Carmel founding fathers Frank Powers and J. F. Devendorf were the painter's enthusiastic patrons and firm friends. She herself was one of the founders of All Saints' Church.

The cottage which is still occupied by Mrs. Klenke and which stands at the rear of the Lincoln Street studio, belonged to Superior Court Judge Buck of Stockton and was one of a thin scattering of Carmel cottages along the lane at the time. The painter had it moved onto the lot, moved into it, and later added to it.

In all ways Miss Morgan's life and devotion to career typified that of serious artists everywhere. It is safe to say she painted every day of her adult life and was, in fact, painting for a documentary motion picture on the eve of her unexpected death at the age of 80.

And the story of her life is the story of the development of Carmel. Born in San Francisco May 24, 1868, she turned to painting early, studying with Emil Carlsen, Amedee Joullin, William Keith, Arthur Matthews and William Chase.

Names of her Peninsula colleagues, all of whom moved here through the years after she had arrived, read like a roster of the community's best-remembered residents: John O'Shea, William P. Silva, William Ritschel, Armin Hansen, Arthur Hill Gilbert.

Many honors came during the long lifetime of Miss Morgan, who once referred to herself as "a horse-and-buggy" artist, but whose versatility in landscape, portraiture and still life was paired with a towering strength and mood of timelessness. This strength, which showed in all Morgan canvases, was once referred to by a critic as "Miss Morgan's strong fist."

As Miss Morgan, and others, painted, Carmel grew but the flavor and substance of painting which was there at the beginning has been kept and has itself grown.

There are now 16 art galleries in Carmel alone, not counting those in the environs, but including the venerable Carmel Art Association. (Continued on Page Eighteen)

CAPITAL GAINS TAXES

There is a lot of misunderstanding about the capital gains tax. Many are under the impression that 25 percent of the profit on the sale of securities or real estate will be taxed away. This is not necessarily true. At least, it is not the whole story.

If you are in a 50 percent tax bracket, or if this gain will throw you into a 60 percent, or higher bracket, it may be so. But, this figure of 25 percent, is the absolute maximum. It does not affect transactions of the great majority of taxpayers.

All too often, an investor will refrain from making some profitable transaction for fear that 25 percent of his profit will be taxed away from him. Instead of jumping to this conclusion, the thing to do is to get some competent tax advice. Unless your gain is in the tens of thousands of dollars, and unless you already are in a very high tax bracket, the capital gains tax may not be significant enough to influence your decision at all.

You can make a rough estimate of the amount of tax by using this simple formula: Compute the amount of the profit and divide it in half; then add this one-half to your other taxable income. That is really all that there is to it. Whatever tax bracket you are in will determine what rate of tax you pay on the one-half of the gain that you include in your taxable income. The other one-half of the gain is tax free.

For example: Suppose that you bought some securities or property for $6,000, and now have sold it for $10,000. You have a capital gain of $4,000. If you held it for over six months, you have a long term capital gain, as distinguished from a short term capital gain, so you are entitled to the special tax advantage we are discussing here. Simply divide your $4,000 profit in half. Add this one half, or $2,000, to your other income. If you are still in the first tax bracket of 20 percent, you will be paying, in taxes, 20 percent of $2,000, or $400, on your capital gain of $4,000. Obviously, you are not paying an automatic 25 percent of your $4,000, which would be a flat $1,000.

It should be emphasized that all of the foregoing applies to the sale of assets held over six months. The gain on assets held for six months or less is included in full with other taxable income. It is not divided in half.

There are numerous other considerations to be taken into account when figuring the approximate tax, such as offsetting losses against gains. But the commonly repeated statement that the tax on capital gains is 25 percent, should not be taken as a full statement of the fact. The actual tax may be considerably less.

HOLMAN, THOMAS STEAL K. C. VICTORY

There are two people who deserve special mention and consideration for the part they played in Carmel's victory over King City last Saturday. Should Carmel win the OCAL-B division league championship, which at this point in the season looks quite probable, John Thomas and Danny Holman will be, perhaps, the two most important players on the Carmel Varsity.

This is what happened. With twenty seconds remaining in the game, two downs to go and the ball on Carmel's 25-yard line, Carmel was trailing by two points, 21-19. Danny faded back to pass with several enormous Mustangs almost on top of him. Dodging between them he threw a long pass which John "J. T." Thomas caught on the 50-yard line. With skill which was remarkable even for J. T., John ran through all opposition for the game-saving six points. Nobody cared that the conversion was missed, or that the officials gave King City one down after the gun had sounded. The victory was in our hands and the defensive team didn't let go.

In the first quarter, Holman passed to Kelley for six points, and Grant Pollock kicked the extra point. Then King City scored a TD on a 57-yard pass, breaking Carmel's record of being unscored against. The extra point was scored, and the game was tied, seven to seven. The Mustangs broke the tie, scoring seven points on a 49-yard pass. At the end of the first quarter it was 7-14 in favor of King City.

In the second quarter, due to improvement by both the offensive and defensive teams, one recovered fumble by Jim Markowitz, a Holman-to-Kelley pass, several good tackles by Kelley, and a good run by Phil Zobel, Carmel was in scoring position. Holman capitalized on this opportunity with a 29-yard pass to Zobel which was good for six points. The Mustangs blocked Pollock's kick. The King City Varsity scored once more in the first half, this time on a 78-yard run. At the end of the first half Carmel was behind, 13-21.

In the third quarter Zobel led the offensive assault with a nimble-footed run that cost King City 30 yards. A Holman-to-Faia pass was good for the first down, but the following fourth down John Lefler had to punt. He kicked it well and Carmel ended the quarter by scoring one touchdown. Again the conversion failed and the score stood King City 21, Carmel 19 at the end of the third period.

The fourth quarter saw the offense good, with short runs by John Thomas and a completed pass from Holmes to Zobel. Carmel was unable to score, even with two excellent possibilities, until pressed for time. It was then that Carmel fans saw Danny Holman fade back and pass to John Thomas.

Here are the statistics on this game. For King City—39 yards passing, with one for five completed; 278 yards rushing; eight first downs; 75 yards lost from penalties; and two unrecovered fumbles, one of which was recovered by Dave Harris. For Carmel—188 yards passing, eight out of 13 passes completed with only two interceptions; 200 yards rushing; 13 first downs; a loss of 40 yards due to penalties; and no fumbles.

Saturday the Padres will meet the San Lorenzo Cougars at 2:00 on Bardarson Field at Carmel High School.

GOOD OFFENSIVE JV TEAM SHUTS OUT KING CITY

For frosting on the lovely pigskin cake, the Junior Varsity squad iced the King City JV's by a score of 26-0. Ralph Juarez led the attack by kicking off to King City, and then tackling the receiver on the Broncos' own 15-yard line. The first TD for Carmel came when Al Nishimura successfully completed a 30-yard pass to John Tolan. No extra point was made. Then Juarez made a 30-yard run for another six points. With the successful conversion, the score stood at 13-0 at the end of

LAGUNA SECA POSTSCRIPTS

I'll try to mention an item or two that you won't find in the Laguna Race results or in the motor magazines. These are my own impressions gathered from usually unreliable sources supplemented with choice bits of hearsay.

It was wonderful to see the crowd at the track. The Junior Chamber boys got everyone through the ticket-taking bit very quickly, but that program seller stalled the line a bit. The Kiwanis Club with their red flags and jack-ets parked you much more efficiently this year, too. Dividing the pits into inner and outer areas, also pro and amateur, helped give the spectator more to see, gave the entrant a chance to work on his car, and allowed SCOA to clear the trailers from below Turn 8. And wasn't it wonderful to see three cars slide off of 8 and not hit a steel trailer. It possibly saved a life!

Turn 2 is still dangerous and a Porsche and Alan Connel's Cooper proved it. Would that the odds weren't so high against repeated flat out rounding of that corner! Three is just as bad but there is room to correct or to slide around a bit if drivers gamble there. Talk to the drivers if you are curious about the effect Turn 2 has on lap times at Laguna. More is gained or lost by the speed at which drivers round that fast left hander than on any other turn.

Lloyd Ruby proved his skill with the Lotus 19, didn't he? Also McClaren when he managed to start the second heat in gear, with no clutch, and got under way with the starter. He drove better than his finish showed. Brabham proved a sensation to those watching the braking and cornering of his little Lotus 23. All that smoke he created was due to oil leaking onto the manifold, the engine was running fine.

I hear Brabham's car went to a customer in New Jersey, and that Penske bought McClaren's Cooper Monaco. Briggs Cunningham didn't run his two huge and fearsome Maserati Coupes on this tight course, but he did leave them with Jack Flaherty at British Motors to be sold at a great loss. He also left his fantastic little blue Abarth Simca that does 135 miles an hour from a standstill in the same time as an XK-E! It is under 1400 cc's!

Rosebud put the blue Lotus 19 up for sale after heat Number 1 when a rear disc brake, bearing, etc., conspired to destroy the differential. The publicized Rod Carveth Lotus 19 mit Buick V8 seemed to have worn out the camshaft. Jerry Grant's similar car went like scat till the hood blew off. Steve McQueen arrived Friday and shortly began to receive phone calls from his employers and did not run again. Seems I remember a Josh Randall running several recent races in Europe.

Tim Mayer (No. 17 Cooper Monaco) was here on pass from the Army in San Juan, Puerto Rico, and may soon run in the Cuban Grand Prix in an O.D. tank. Let us hope not! From Canada we had a group of fine Formula Jr. Drivers, Bob McClean in the black Cooper; Enrie DeVoss in the blue Lola with both Jerry Barber and Chuck Blaylock along to help.

Red Geesaman of Pacific Grove pulled the "gamesmanship" trick of the week end. He took a look at the entries in the Junior race and entered his homebuilt car in high-priced Class One. He stopped in the pits for quite a while and then drove the last lap. He won third place, Class One, on Saturday and took his nice trophy home, while 20 Class Two drivers gasped.

Mentioning trophies reminds me the first quarter. During the second quarter, Carmel was in excellent scoring position, but, because of a fumble, lost the ball. Later in the quarter, however, Carmel did score on a pass from Al Nishimura to John Tolan. With the conversion point, Carmel led at the half by a score of 20-0.

In the third quarter, Nishimura completed passes to Jay Lang and Steve Johnson. With the exception of some fine tackles by Johnson, the defense was hardly at its best during the second half of play. Randy Mapstead intercepted one pass, George Buck provided good blocking. Mike Paul got some good-looking tackling in, but other than these few scattered efforts, there was little to indicate Carmel had a good defense. John Tolan ran 25 yards up the middle for a touchdown, and Carmel left the game with a 26-0 lead.

With an exciting performance of the second symphony of Brahms, the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra under the fine direction of John Gosling, resident conductor, gave its first Carmel concert of the 1962-63 season at Sunset Auditorium on Tuesday night.

During recent years the orchestra has increased immeasurably in stature; Tuesday's concert gave ample proof of this, and was a rewarding experience.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

An assuring message about immortality will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday in a Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Probation After Death."

Opening the Responsive Reading will be these verses from the Bible (John 14): "Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me. In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also."

One of the citations from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states (p. 487): "The understanding that Life is God, Spirit, lengthens our days by strengthening our trust in the deathless reality of Life, its almightiness and immortality."

TALK ON DOG POISONING

Tonight at 8:00 o'clock Dr. Ralph Weston, local veterinarian, will give a lecture in Sunset School auditorium entitled The Poisoner. The public is invited to attend free of charge.

The death of two Carmel dachshunds from unknown causes last week has alarmed pet owners, according to Dr. Weston. In his talk he will discuss state and local laws pertaining to animal controls and animal poisoners.

In the past 16 years, Dr. Weston estimates, over 200 animals have been poisoned in Carmel.

work, especially to lovers of Wagner; but it is at best a rather noisy piece of music. In any case, this was the least successful performance of the evening, for a lack of precision, something a bit ragged and fuzzy, seemed to blur and confuse it.

However, with Debussy's Prelude to The Afternoon of a Faun, which followed, all sections of the orchestra fell neatly into place in a sensitive, cohesive whole. The delicate interplay between harp and woodwinds was perfection, with Raymond Fabrizio's flute a rare delight.

Brahms's second symphony is a supreme test of any orchestra's mettle. So familiar is this work to so many listeners that they are likely to receive it in a state of hypercritical attention. Tuesday night's audience was not disappointed. Conductor Gosling expertly evoked the rich and various tonal colors of the music, the third and fourth movements, in which Fred Bergstone's French horn excelled, being particularly satisfying. The lyric passages were superbly played throughout. Some uneven timing marred the beginning of the first movement, and (perhaps because of Sunset Auditorium's tricky acoustics) the first violins had moments of sounding a little acid and thin; but this is carping. The performance was a triumph for John Gosling and for the symphony orchestra; a source of great pride to the community; an unforgettable evening for the audience.

Coast Road Projects

Two road projects in the down-coast area were started this week, both on State Highway One and both expected by the Division of Highways to call for intermittent traffic delays of up to 30 minutes at the peak of construction activity.

Curbing will be installed during a 30-day project some two miles north of the San Luis Obispo County line and 12 miles north of Big Sur. During the operation traffic will be controlled by a flagman, according to a Division of Highways announcement, but motorists are urged to use caution. The work is part of a project to protect the highway at critical slide areas.

In a second project a new bridge will be installed approximately 40 miles south of Carmel at Hot Springs Creek. No detours are planned during the $370,000 project. Instead, traffic will continue on the existing bridge until the new bridge is completed.

W. D. Henkel and Associates of Fresno are contractors for the curbing project and G. S. Herring-ton of Auburn for the bridge.

There will be slight delays through the construction area and a detour will be provided for those that wish to bypass the construction zone.

Through traffic is encouraged to use these detours since local traffic to and from the commercial area fronting on the highway will be congested, especially during working hours.

It is expected that the work will be completed about the first of January.

(Continued from Page Three) that there is something lacking after the pro races, at the victory dinners. It has to do with the impersonal handing out of a check after a sporting event. Perhaps, if just a little plaque or a cigarette case or small trophy were given?

Noticeable at Laguna Seca was the wonderfully complete Red Cross first aid station just behind the start-finish. I've never seen anything like it at races before. Nurses, doctors, first aid people, ambulances, tents, beds, medicine, lavatory, everything! A fine setup that went unnoticed by the majority.

I compared the aerial picture of the race with the big one on our office wall from the previous Grand Prix and found that more people really did attend the races. The ticket takers worked steadily until 2:30 p.m. The crowd was there, and though we don't believe the normal optimistic attendance releases, I believe a small handful of your neighbors with names like Plummer, Teaby, Walsh, Sherry and Eyre brought several hundred thousand dollars to Monterey Peninsula, introduced thousands of people to our beautiful area and made us many new friends.

Why don't you take a minute to thank some of these people who find time to work for you. Thank them, it will make you feel good too!

MARK SCHORER LECTURE

Mark Schorer, author, professor and chairman of the University of California's English department, will open Critique V at Monterey Peninsula College on 2 November.

He will speak at 8 p.m. in the MPC Music Hall, with Literary Censorship as his topic. This is the first of three lectures in the college's fifth series of commentaries "directed toward areas in which reason, through ignorance, is often absent."

The public is invited to attend the entire series of lectures without charge. Subsequent lectures will be delivered November 9 (Literary Creativity) and November 16 (Literary Confession).

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

To find what you want in a library in any branch of the arts you need to know what you want and you need to be able to use the card catalog, two things which are quite easy for the serious patron. This library collects in all the arts and the result is fairly workable for most people. Now and again someone decides we have little in a certain field, but generally it is because the books he wants are hidden behind subject headings and class numbers he has not been able to decipher, and in this case he needs help from a librarian. Modern art, for instance, is covered quite often by books about a certain artist and his work. In such a case, check under the name of the artist. Books on the history of art and on certain crafts are easier to find.

Someone said that this is the era of the big art book, and anyone buying a library would subscribe wholeheartedly to that statement. Big books with beautiful color illustrations are everywhere and, wherever they are, their price tags are marked with astronomical figures. For this reason many books in this library are shelved in cases with glass doors to protect their beautiful illustrations from casual handling.

We buy many more books on specific subjects than the more general type of thing, and for this reason we call your attention today to certain books which are a bit different, but still in the general field of art. A book we have had a long time but which seldom circulates is The Audubon Book of Bird Carving, by John Lacey. Filled with graphic illustrations, it shows you how to block out the blocks and engravings. Plentiful illustrations in the book, of course.

And, finally, suppose you do not want to make anything or paint anything, you just want to BUY a picture and you are a little unsure. For you we have just the right book! It is called Pictures To Live With, and it was written by Bryan Holms. There are many illustrations, some of which are in color. Something for everyone at your public library, as we always say.

MPC Speakers Bureau

A new faculty speakers bureau directory was issued this week at Monterey Peninsula College.

The 1962-63 edition, like previous editions, lists topics on which 30 faculty members of the bureau will speak before clubs and organizations on request. There is also biographical information on each member for use by program chairmen in publicizing and introducing speakers.

Cross-indexed, topics are listed under the following headings: art, humanities and religion; business; criminology; education; health and sports; international and travel; psychological; science, mathematics and the technical world; social studies, government and politics.

A map of the MPC campus is included, as well as a letter from Dr. Frederick R. Huber, college president, inviting organizations to make use of the bureau.

Any organization desiring a copy of the directory may telephone FR 5-9821, Extension 25. Copies will be mailed immediately.

POETRY AWARDS

A Berkeley poet, Howard Emerson Rogers, won the Anna Berliner Levy memorial award for best poem at the recent awards banquet of the Ina Coolbrith Circle annual poetry contest in Oakland.

Olivia Young, formerly of Carmel and now of Santa Cruz, was one of a three-member panel of judges for the contest.

Other winners included Ethelford Carroll, also of Berkeley, first prize; Stella Worley, Sacramento, second; Constance M. Topping, Berkeley, third; Anna Blake Mezquida, San Francisco, fourth; Marie Virginia Eustace, Palo Alto, fifth.

The poetry of Ethelford Carroll and Marie Virginia Eustace has appeared in the poetry column of The Pine Cone. Other Pine Cone poets took commendation honors: Kate Rennie Archer of San Francisco, and Blanche Moke of Aptos.

Keep Worrying, But Not Too Much!

Don't worry if you're a bit of a worrier and don't get anxious about anxiety. A certain amount of both is a healthy sign. It helps you cope with whatever is bothering you.

This reassuring word comes from a Beverly Hills psychiatrist in the current issue of California Medicine, scientific journal of the California Medical Association. He takes issue with those who hold that anxiety and worry are always "abnormal."

Dr. Judd Marmor carefully differentiates "normal" types of anxiety over dangers or problems from "abnormal" types. The former, he says, "is a constructive force spurring the ego on" to master the actual or potential threat to its safety. In an extreme form, anxiety "may cause total disorganization or paralysis of ego activity," such as in panic reactions or agitated depressions.

Basically, he points out, anxiety is an emotional signal that something is wrong. This triggers worry, which is a mental effort to correct the problem. An example of a "healthy" combination of these is the student who, having done poorly in an examination, worries about it enough to improve his mark on the next one.

Other helpful results attributed by Dr. Marmor to moderate anxiety and worry occur in health matters. He credits "realistic" amounts of these with being "the foundation of preventive medicine" by influencing people to have health examinations or immunizations or to watch their diets. Also he says that a normal amount of anxiety and worry before an operation helps minimize postoperative emotional disturbances.

He suggests that doctors should help their patients to "worry constructively" by giving them a reasonable idea of what to expect in the way of pain or complications rather than telling them, "Don't worry—just leave the worrying to me."

You Be The Judge

Elvin Anderson, Democratic Candidate for Assembly, 34th District, (Monterey and Santa Cruz Counties) asks voters, "Are you tired of the unproductive, part time representation of the incumbent Assemblyman?"

Anderson asks Republicans and Democrats alike to compare Monterey County's public facilities with those of other areas, notably Southern California and Tahoe. He states that we could and should have waterways for small boating and water skiing, clean beaches with more adequate public facilities, pheasant hunting areas, and more overnight camping areas for families.

Elvin Anderson pledges to work for our fair share of State funds, which is being diverted to other areas, so that we may enjoy these advantages; to work full time, and to meet personally with the people of the district to discuss their needs.

Anderson, who was born and raised on a farm, is pledged to work with farmers for better representation in Sacramento.

INSIDE PEOPLE

BY RAYLYN PENNEY

Kurt von Meier

It's not always easy to write an interview on a Carmelite dwelling six thousand miles to the southwest of the city limits. Such a project must be accomplished either by a communications system (like those chess games played by telegram) or the subject must have been interviewed before he got so far out of earshot.

In the case of Kurt von Meier, senior lecturer in the history and theory of fine arts at the University of Auckland, New Zealand, we have depended on a little of both.

We had a long talk with Kurt, who is the son of Mrs. Julian von Meier of Carmel, before he left Carmel for his new post earlier this year; then we waited a few months and accumulated some information on Kurt's activities after he had arrived in the far hemisphere.

So if you can imagine him now, just emerging from the winter in the Antipodes to bask in early summer sunshine briefly before he plunges back to the business of lecturing to would-be artists and appreciators of art, we will share some of his ideas with you.

Kurt, a graduate of Carmel schools and the University of California, did postgraduate work at Stanford University, the University of Madrid and Princeton University and is now working toward his doctorate in the history of art. He has been evaluating Maori art since his arrival in New Zealand.

"Maori wood-carving in particular is superb," he says, but goes on to deplore the trend toward cheapness and commercialization (of all things) which has hit the primitive arts of the South Seas.

Cheapness and commercialization were, in fact, the aspects of his own native land which bothered Kurt most last year when he came home from studying in Europe and viewed things with the objective eye of the newly arrived.

"On the surface it appears that a carnival is going on. Apparently the only really worthwhile things in life are news conferences and test talks.

"By switching the radio from AM to FM you can in a flash jump from Mozart quartets to vitamin capsules and 27 station breaks in an hour!

"If this isn't like ancient Rome, what is? If we take a good look at ourselves we'll realize not all the barbarians were halted at the Vosges. Yet it's a fallacy to think America has a stranglehold on insanity. Europe imitates the worst aspects of America.

"Now I said on the surface we appear to be conducting a carnival. Yet reasonable men are not so rare as one might think by daily exposure to the mass media. Gene Shephard, the New York columnist, is one such man of great humor and perception. But it is a sad thing that TV Guide, in mentioning him, didn't know what to call him and decided to list him among the comedians."

Kurt, though he rails heartily against what he disapproves, specified particularly that he doesn't want to be counted among the pessimistic and the hypercritical. Personally, he's extremely cheerful and one of the most satisfactory conversationalists we'd met for a long time. After a truly glittering spate of talk, he'll suddenly fall silent, grin broadly and say, "But what's your opinion about this?"

Friends of long-standing in Carmel had a chance last winter not only to see Kurt again but to meet his German-born wife, Hildegard Klauberg von Meier, daughter of Prof. Dr. and Mrs. Karl Wilhelm Klauberg of Berlin, with whom Kurt and Hildegard spent last Christmas. Hildegard, a clinical biologist, is now with her husband in New Zealand.

"Deciding what we can do about this (the carnival that civilization has become) is," according to Kurt, "an individual, personal decision."

"Some linguists feel a single language would aid communication and dispose of hate, but I'm inclined to doubt this. A lot of people who speak French have fought one another."

"I faced this question of what can I personally do not so long ago. What does one study if he wants to help civilization? Lyric poetry? Painting? Sculpture? Architecture? I had specialized in international law at Cal in Berkeley. I found it valuable to study at Princeton because of that school's broad approach to all branches of knowledge to the exclusion of none."

"By now I have come to a conclusion of sorts, that if I as a teacher can open the eyes of even one student to the beautiful in the world, regardless of its form, then I will have experienced success."

"And I feel that there is a great deal that is beautiful. I don't mean the pap and drool that we all agree automatically is beautiful. I mean the intrinsically beautiful."

"Berenson (the art critic) and others have called it empathy that leads us to know what is beautiful. I am an art historian and yet when someone asks if I specialize in ancient or contemporary art I have to answer that for me there is no ancient or contemporary art, but only good and bad art. I try to specialize in good art and promote its worth."

"Nor is there such a clear dividing line on culture. A man who reads only French literature is only partly literate. Again there should not be classifications for American and European literature, but only for good literature and bad."

Kurt, whose doctoral dissertation will be a monograph on a German sculptor, said that Ezra Pound's ABC of Reading is in his opinion required reading for those who want to become aware of the possibility of beauty. Other favorite books of Kurt's are An Essay On Civilization by Clive Bell, and a second book called simply Art, by the same author. Kurt opined also that too few Americans read Adams and Jefferson and Washington's farewell address.

Kurt, who in addition to his studies has, among other things, played rugby, hitchhiked across Germany, visited in East Berlin and lived in Franco Spain, added:

"Politics has produced little of lasting value. I am for pure knowledge. I am for the moon. But I am also for the artists."

"I am for 20th Century Americanism, but I believe democracy is a chance to hear voices who will speak out to right wrongs. A great deal of our world is subject to analysis."

"At the same time I categorically reject the idea of gloom. If one seeks beauty, he will find it. To fail to comprehend to the fullest limits of our comprehension is inexcusable. A good teacher is a catalyst who can further this comprehension, not an indoctrinator. I hope to be a good catalyst. There is a great amount of work to be done."

Crafts Exhibit

Mrs. Verne Bartram and Mrs. Helen V. Bennett, members of the weaving section of the Carmel Crafts Guild, have special displays of their work in the windows of Craft Fair on Dolores. Both are charter members also of The Monterey Peninsula Senior Craftsmen's organization. Mrs. Bennett having been its first president.

Mrs. Bennett, whose home is in Carmel Valley, has always been a versatile craftsman. Her exhibit includes woven stoles and scarves, Christmas novelties, enamel-on-copper jewelry, and knitted baby garments.

The craftsmen depend on her skill at silk screening for their publicity flyers, and announcements screened by Mrs. Bennett are often used by the Carmel Foundation, which is the sponsor of this community project for senior craftsmen.

Mrs. Bartram, as well as continuing to make hand-woven linen table mats, has recently become expert in the making of colored glass articles and in using molten glass in combination with enamel-on-copper jewelry. Both her weaving and her new crafts are on exhibit.

Their two-woman show will be the special feature at Craft Fair until 1 November.

The Sur Coast

By Elizabeth Fuller Jones
ART SHOW

Devils In Paradise, a special showing of paintings and drawings by Dorothy Bowman, will be presented at the Coast Gallery, Big Sur on Saturday, with a public reception for the artist from 2 to 7 p.m.

Miss Bowman and her husband, Howard Bradford, residents of Big Sur, are among the 50 artists who display their works at the Coast Gallery. The gallery represents Big Sur artists solely, and is open daily from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. except Mondays.

There is a charm about the rustic buildings surrounded by mountains, trees and streams near the great bluffs of the sea, which is both gallery and home for owner Mrs. La Verne M. Allen. In the less than five years since Mrs. Allen became owner and curator of Coast Gallery, it has taken on some aspects of a community center, with lectures and concerts as well as the continuous display of the work of local artists.

Miss Bowman's Devils In Paradise show will continue until 11 November.

LAST BAROQUE CONCERT

The Baroque Festival at Neptune ends Sunday evening with the presentation of Scarlatti, Telemann and Handel cantatas, also Fandango by Antonio Soler.

Carole Bogard will be the soprano soloist; Margaret Fabrizio, harpsichordist, and Ellen Dressler, cellist. The program begins at 8:30.

GARRAPATA POTTERY

On a ridge between the Palo Colorado and Garrapata Canyons, overlooking the densely wooded slopes and the sea, is the Garrapata Pottery. In this beautiful and remote setting, Phyllis Calley creates and displays her works of art. The pottery is open on week ends, for visitors, and may be reached by Palo Colorado Canyon. Drive up the canyon road (which is approximately twelve miles south of Carmel off Highway One) about two miles, then take the first road to the left and follow signs to the Pottery.

SCHOOL ANNEXATION

A petition for annexation of the Captain Cooper School District to the Carmel Unified School District is being circulated among registered voters residing within the Captain Cooper School District, Big Sur. Annexation has been studied and discussed for several years and the petition will request the County Superintendent of Schools to call for an election in the area.

The citizens committee working on the petition are Hans Ewoldsen, Mrs. Eleanor Gregg, Mrs. Pat Hartford, Mrs. Nancy Hopkins and Mrs. Betty Sommerville.

The Big Sur school is presently in an independent school district and children finishing the eighth grade then attend Monterey High School.

Twentieth Century, the 1934 Howard Hawks comedy starring John Barrymore and Carole Lombard, will be shown twice tomorrow evening as the third fall offering of the Monterey Peninsula College theatre arts group of films.

With it will be screened a Dutch short, Panta Rhei. Both complete showings—the first at 7 p.m., the second at 9:00 — are open to the public without charge in the music hall on campus. Reserved seat tickets may be picked up at the college until 5 p.m. tomorrow. Some unreserved seats will be available.

In Twentieth Century, Barrymore, who built a reputation as a great romantic and Shakespearean actor, demonstrates, according to film critic Pauline Kael, that he was "a comedian, or, more accurately, a satirist of astonishing originality, verve and wit."

Panta Rhei was directed, photographed and edited by Holland's Bert Haanstra. First released in 1957, it is a poetic study of the universal flux as seen in the movement of shadows, sunrises, breakers, clouds, flowers and raindrops.

Need Donations To Save Heron, Egret

The Audubon societies of the San Francisco Bay area are asking for the help of all Californians in order to preserve one of the last major nesting grounds in this state of the great blue heron and American egret.

These two spectacular birds, among the largest on our continent, have been saved from the plume hunters by the National Audubon Society, but are now rapidly declining in numbers in California because of the destruction of their feeding and nesting grounds.

The Marin and Golden Gate Audubon societies are acquiring through purchase and gift, Canyon Ranch where the birds nest, and have leased part of Bolinas Lagoon in Marin County where the birds feed. Altogether the societies will control 885 acres of lagoon, forested canyon and meadowland in the heart of which lies the rookery

Sixth Grade Camp

This week end sixth graders at Sunset and Carmelo schools will be packing. On Monday, accompanied by their teachers, they will leave by bus for Redwood Glen Camp in the Santa Cruz mountains and a week's outdoor science-conservation education. The following week River School sixth graders will take part in the program sponsored by the schools offices of Monterey, Santa Cruz and Santa Clara counties, also San Jose State College.

Each student is required to take a sleeping bag or blanket roll, toilet articles and clothing. None are allowed to have jackknives, money, comic books, radios or playing cards. Food is provided at the camp at a cost per student of $14.35 for the week.

At camp, the day starts at 7 a.m. and ends with Lights Out at 9 p.m. In between will be lessons on minerals, rocks, soil, water, plants, animals, insects, air, weather and physical forces. There will be hikes, swimming and evening programs, too. The students will set tables, wash dishes, keep sleeping cabins clean and orderly, and, according to the camp manual, table manners will be stressed.

But above all, learning to enjoy and appreciate nature is the important goal of the science-conservation program for sixth graders. While attaining this goal, the boys and girls also learn democratic social living in the outdoor program which includes work, recreation and study in a natural laboratory.

which produces more than 100 young birds per year.

Canyon Ranch and its 80-year-old ranch house and barns will become a center for nature education.

The two Audubon societies have, through gifts from interested persons, raised over one-third of the $300,000 necessary to buy the property. They are now asking donations from citizens throughout the state to complete the purchase. Contributions are tax deductible, and may be sent to Audubon Canyon Ranch, Box 441, Tiburon, California.

WESTERN ARTISTS SHOW

The 22nd annual exhibition of the Society of Western Artists opens next week in the M. H. de Young Museum in San Francisco. The society is holding an invitational preview Tuesday evening.

A RENAISSANCE OF COMMON SENSE

We live in an era where the commodity of common sense becomes as hard to find as an Indian-head nickel, as elusive as peace of mind, and as out of fashion as the flapper, the Charleston, and high button shoes.

Common sense has been debilitated by compromise, has been stomped and spat on by theorists, and has been downgraded—along with tradition and good manners—as something that is an atavistic throwback to our "pre-sophisticated" period.

We would like to see a Renaissance of common sense. Let us all hope and pray that such a thing will happen. Let us hope that common sense prevails at the bargaining tables of world diplomacy and at the higher echelons of government. On a local level, let us hope that Monterey County residents will use common sense in the forthcoming elections on every Federal, State, and County issue.

On one County issue—the race for Sheriff—the decision will be difficult for some people. We are asked to entrust a yearly budget of in excess of one million dollars, to this man.

There are two candidates for Sheriff. One is a former California Highway patrolman. He is honest, personable and energetic. He has had no police administrative experience.

The other candidate is also honest, personable and energetic. In addition, however, he has had twenty-six years in local law enforcement, thirteen years of which have been spent as Chief of a Police Department where he was responsible for administration, budgets, investigation, and the supervision of personnel. He is a graduate of the famed FBI Academy in Washington, D.C., and periodically has returned to school for the training in latest techniques of criminal detection, crime prevention and administration. His efficiency is mirrored in the fact that under his direction, his department has never lost a case in Superior Court. This candidate's name is Clyde Klaumann. He is our Chief of Police.

Even if Carmel people did not know Chief Klaumann—even if we owed him nothing in the way of gratitude—common sense would demand that we support his election, because his qualifications are so outstanding that we could not, in all honesty to ourselves and our county, vote for anyone else.

Let us hope that common sense prevails throughout Monterey County. If it does, then Clyde Klaumann will be our next Sheriff. And if we can apply common sense on a local level such as this, perhaps some of it will rub off on world diplomacy.

Who knows, it may even become contagious.

Dr. Spaulding Will Celebrate 50 Years In Ministry Sunday

The guest preacher at Carmel Presbyterian Church, the Reverend Dr. Clarence A. Spaulding of Pasadena, Sunday will celebrate the 50th anniversary of his ordination into the Presbyterian ministry. He has been preaching this summer and fall at the Carmel church since the former minister, the Reverend Dr. Joseph M. Ewing, left to become the new secretary of the board of pensions of the Presbyterian Church with offices in Philadelphia. The theme for Dr. Spaulding's sermon this Sunday will be An Eternal Memorial, at identical services at 9:30 and 11 a.m. He will preach again November 4, the last Sunday before the new minister of the church, the Reverend Dr. George Hunter Hall of Phoenix, Arizona, takes over the Carmel pastorate.

Dr. Spaulding was ordained into the ministry by the Los Angeles Presbytery on October 28, 1912. While an engineering student at Occidental College, he attended a YMCA conference at Asilomar in 1903 and during this conference made his decision to become a minister. After his graduation from Occidental in 1907, he went to England and was a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford University from 1908 until 1911. At the end of a year at Auburn Seminary, Dr. Spaulding became the pastor of the Westminster Church in Los Angeles for a period of five years.

In 1919, at the close of two years as a YMCA worker, he received his doctor of divinity degree from Occidental, and was installed as pastor of the First Church of Santa Barbara where he remained for 12 years. He served as moderator of the Synod of California in 1930, and was twice an exchange preacher to England, in 1935 and 1953, as a member of the National Council of Churches program. Between 1931 and 1945, he was pastor of the River Forest, Chicago, church. He served as vice-president of the College of Christian Education, a Presbyterian college affiliated with the McCormick Theological Seminary, now merged, between 1945 and 1953.

Dr. Spaulding's son, Dr. Arthur Spaulding, a Peninsula surgeon, lives in Carmel.

ROTARY

Dr. Rolf L. Bolin, director of the Hopkins Marine Station, is expected to address next Wednesday's meeting of the Carmel Rotary Club. His subject will be Fish I Have Known.

Tahiti, and to Australia and New Zealand.

In New Zealand, Mrs. Kuster and Miss Harpe will make an extended visit. Miss Harpe will visit Hildegard and Kurt von Meier, bringing them their last year's Christmas presents (which they had left at the Carmel home of Kurt's mother, Mrs. Julian von Meier, when the couple stopped here briefly on their way to New Zealand), and also cataloging materials, including such items as labels, for Kurt to use in setting up a museum of Maori artifacts. Kurt is a senior lecturer at the Elam School of Fine Arts in Auckland. Miss Harpe will also bring the von Meiers' salad seasonings and plastic bags, scarce or nonexistent in New Zealand.

Meanwhile Mrs. Kuster, whose mother was the painter Mary Younghunter, who was born in New Zealand, will track down paintings by Mrs. Younghunter which are hanging in certain galleries, including the National Museum in Wellington. One is a painting of Mrs. Kuster, at the age of three, "looking very Gainsborough," she says; another is of Dante and Beatrice. Mrs. Kuster tells of her mother having left Napier (on New Zealand's North Island) at the age of 11; with her family, in a sailing ship bound for England; a long, difficult trip through hurricanes and doldrums. "The ship almost fell apart" on the voyage, but the family arrived safely. Mrs. Kuster still has cousins in New Zealand, whom she will visit.

The painter-voyagers will be home again in January.

Beach Club Costume Party

A costume party will be held at the Beach Club tomorrow night. Twelve Tahitian musicians called Tiare Tahiti will entertain during the evening.

Taylor Pillsbury, Mr. and Mrs. Niven Busch, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert MacKay, Mr. and Mrs. Cortlandt Hill, and Captain and Mrs. Leonard Kirby.

At the Thomas M. Bunns' no-host table will be Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spreen, Mr. and Mrs. Jennison Heaton, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. Darius N. Keaton, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. John A. Clancy.

Mr. and Mrs. James B. Skinner of Kentfield will be at a table with Mrs. Skinner's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Mack of Carmel.

Miss Green Gives Poets Party

Attired as famous poets, members of Maxine Shore's adult school writing class gathered at the home of Miss Sally Green Saturday evening for a "poor poet's party." Co-hostess was Mrs. Cynthia Richardson, a Carmel visitor whose home is in Pasadena.

The cocktail buffet was served in a Hallowe'en setting, and the guests, who were each asked to bring an original poem written in the style of the poet represented, included Mrs. Shore, Miss Eva L. Dunbar, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hazell, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Patrick, Mrs. Ethel Swanson, Miss Lisa Thomson, Miss Marilyn Zapp, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen A. James, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Randolph, and Mrs. Carl Beaver.

Miss Green will leave Carmel in two weeks to make her home in Santa Barbara. A writer and artist, she recently sold a Christmas story with her own illustrations, based upon the monarch butterflies of Pacific Grove, to a New York magazine, also an article about Carmel to the same publication.

Fraternity Honors Diane

Members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity at San Jose State College recently serenaded Diane Miller, a junior majoring in sociology who is affiliated with Alpha Phi sorority on the SJS campus. Reason for the singing: the fraternity had chosen Diane to be one of their Little Sisters of Minerva, an honor shared by 14 other girls on the campus, three of them Alpha Phis.

Diane will act as hostess for the men's fraternity and help them plan parties, also meet with them at dinner every second week. The SAEs choose Little Sisters of Minerva instead of electing a campus queen for the fraternity.

Diane's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Miller.

John Zellhoefer Weds In South

Rita May Arnold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred William Arnold of Santa Barbara, became the bride of John William Zellhoefer of Carmel Highlands at an afternoon ceremony in San Roque Catholic Church, Santa Barbara, on 6 October.

John's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Arthur Zellhoefer, drove south for their son's wedding, accompanied by their younger son, Jerald, who served as one of the ushers.

The bride, who was escorted to the altar by her father, wore a sculptured white brocade gown, with a floor length dome skirt. Her elbow length silk illusion veil, held by a pearl princess crown, was "something borrowed" from her new sister-in-law and matron of honor, Mrs. David Zaches (Judi Zellhoefer), who was married on 1 September in Carmel. Rita's bouquet was a cascade of butterfly orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. Zaches and the two bridesmaids, Beth Appleton of Los Angeles and Betty Fletcher of Santa Barbara, wore identical dresses of apricot satin with short bouffant skirts, and matching headbands with short veils. Judi carried bronze chrysanthemums and white stephanotis, and the other attendants apricot colored roses and carnations.

Robert Carl Marshall of Santa Barbara was best man. Robert Aiello of San Francisco was an usher.

A reception at the El Encanto Hotel in Santa Barbara followed the ceremony. The young couple honeymooned at Lake Tahoe and are making their home in San Luis Obispo, where John is with the right-of-way department of the State Division of Highways.

Rita graduated from Santa Barbara Catholic High School and the University of California at Santa Barbara. A graduate of Carmel High School, John was a member of the class of 1959 at UCSB.

Queen Phyllis Reigns At Davis

During half-time in the football game between the Cal Aggies and Humboldt State College on Saturday night, came the exciting moment when the Homecoming Queen was introduced. This year's queen at the University of California at Davis is Phyllis Clayton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Clayton of Carmel. Her parents drove up to Davis for the game, and were "thrilled."

Phyllis was chosen among 12 candidates nominated by the members of the men's residence halls and fraternities. The original candidates, narrowed down to five finalists by student body ballot, were then interviewed by judges.

The queen's identity was kept secret until the night of the game.

Phyllis is a junior at Davis, majoring in cultural anthropology. She graduated in 1960 from Carmel High School, where she was head cheer leader in her senior year, and a member of Leaders Club.

Librarian Sees Autumn In Iowa

Mrs. Ruth Galvin Thornburg is on vacation for two weeks from her duties as chief of Carmel's public library staff. She left by train Monday for Hampton, Iowa, to visit her mother, Mrs. Jack Galvin.

In anticipation of a middlewestern autumn stay, Mrs. Thornburg remarked, "The maples are red and the night air redolent of bonfires at this time of year."

Former Carmelite In Cornwall

The former Marjorie Simpson, now Mrs. Winston Sparrow, was one of the founders of Merle's Treasure Chest and lived in Carmel for many years. She later went to South Africa, where she met her husband, a painter. They made their home in Menlo Park for three years and are now living in Cornwall, England.

A mural of Mr. Sparrow's, showing the pursuit of the Spanish Armada by Sir Francis Drake's fleet, covers a wall in the Royal Sailors' Rest at Plymouth. When Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip were in Plymouth in July to open a new civic centre, Her Majesty admired the mural and asked that Mr. and Mrs. Sparrow be presented to her.

Niki and Chris Are Married

At home in a Carmel cottage are Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Byrne Wilkin, who were married 30 September at the Church of the Wayfarer. The former Nicola Marion (Niki) Budd is the daughter of Mrs. Paul Budd of Carmel and the late Mr. Budd. Chris's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Wilkin.

Niki, who was given in marriage by her grandfather, C. V. Budd, wore a white silk peau de sole gown of ballerina length, with long sleeves. A small crown held her shoulder-length veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of two white butterfly orchids with carnations and stephanotis.

Carla Budd was her sister's maid of honor, clad in a green and blue print silk sheath and wearing a gardenia corsage.

John Wilkin was his brother's best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception for family members and a few close friends was held at the home of the bride's mother.

The young couple are Carmel High School graduates.

Elizabeth Is Eight

Nine friends from Sunset School helped Elizabeth Sanford celebrate her eighth birthday after school on Friday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Sanford of Carmel Highlands. After a peanut hunt, and games of pin the tail on the donkey, look and tell, and follow the leader, everyone settled down to the serious business of enjoying ice cream and cake.

Elizabeth's guests were Cindy Byrne, Kathleen Walker, Tracy Cotchett, Larissa Robinson, Holly Irwin, Perla Armanasco, Ginny Smith, Jane Chalkley, and Louise Litts.

A Daughter For The Schermans

Their first child, a daughter who weighed six pounds, 15 ounces, and whom they have named Leah Dee, was born 28 September at the Community Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Scherman of Carmel.

Sharing in the excitement of the event are grandparents Mr. and Mrs. W. Dee Scherman of Carmel, Mrs. Ann Shaw of Seattle and Allen B. Luetke of Anchorage, Alaska. Proud great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Hal Graham of Carmel Valley, and Mr. and Mrs. James A. Luetke of Seattle.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD MUNIZ

The former Sue Elaine Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Henderson of Carmel, and her husband, Richard Manuel Muniz, Jr., whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Manuel Muniz of Pacific Grove, are seen leaving All Saints' Episcopal Church after their wedding on 14 October.

The Reverend Peter Farmer officiated at the double ring ceremony which was performed at 2 p.m. before the altar decorated with sprays of white chrysanthemums and gladioli. White gladioli also marked the family pews in the church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was clad in a white satin gown fashioned along simple lines with a scoop neckline and long pointed sleeves. Her full skirt formed a chapel train which was caught by five satin roses. A wreath of pearl orange blossoms held her elbow-length, bouffant illusion veil. She wore a pearl necklace, a gift from the bridegroom, and carried a white Bible covered with white orchids and lilies-of-the-valley from which fell satin streamers tied with lilies-of-the-valley.

Sue's maid of honor was her sister, Kathleen Henderson. Her bridesmaids were Lynda Finch of San Luis Obispo, sister of the bridegroom, Gina Millington of San Jose, and Mrs. Eugene Harney of Carmel. They wore identical dresses of emerald green satin and carried bouquets of gardenias.

Ronald Rice of Hayward was Richard's best man. The ushers were Clinton Lykins of Monterey, Eladio Gonzales of San Rafael, and Gary Flynn of Pacific Grove.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Henderson chose a champagne satin brocade ensemble with matching accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

Mrs. Muniz was attired in a gown of candlelight silver with black accessories and a gardenia corsage.

The young couple cut their gardenia-wreathed wedding cake at a reception at the Carmel Woman's Club, which was decorated with white chrysanthemums and gladioli. When they left for a honeymoon in San Francisco and at Lake Tahoe, Sue was wearing a mink-trimmed cocoa brown suit, lizard accessories and a white orchid corsage.

They will make their home in Pacific Grove.

Second Date Set For Polio Immunization

County health department officials, and members of the steering committee of the K. O. Polio campaign are planning on an even greater response for the "Second Sunday Punch" on 4 November than the 83 percent of the population which received Type I immunization at the first clinics.

The first Sabin Sunday brought 134,000 people of all ages to the 29 clinics set up throughout Monterey county, and 142,000 doses of Type II vaccine have been ordered for the 4 November clinics.

Dr. Joseph Turner, chairman of the steering committee, announced at a recent meeting of the committee at county health department headquarters that the third clinic, planned for 9 December, has been postponed. Type III will not be given, Dr. Turner said,

BUSINESS AS USUAL IN THIS TIME OF CRISIS

YES! Several of our client-friends have asked us how in the world we can continue to carry on as though nothing unusual is happening in the world and as though we had no awareness of the possibilities of a nuclear disaster. Well, here's how we feel about it: Do you remember from your history books that time during the Revolutionary War when a total eclipse of the sun created a panic and the belief that the end of the world was at hand? The Legislature was in session in Hartford at the time and someone made a motion to adjourn. A Mr. Abraham Davenport had the floor, "Gentlemen," he said, "the day of judgment is either approaching or it is not. If it is not, I see no reason to adjourn; and if it is, I choose to be found at work. Let candles be brought!" We rather favor old Abraham's philosophy, and we have some of the best investment properties on the Monterey Peninsula listed with us to prove we've lit our candles. From a darling little cottage in Carmel at $9,300 to the best and most beautiful apartment house in Monterey, we have an investment to fit any requirement. And if we don't have it, we'll get it for you. And in a time of crisis, remember what your dear old Daddy said: Don't put ALL your money in stocks and bonds! Call us anytime because we're still working. (We're afraid that if we go into our shelter, someone will build a high-rise apartment right on top of us!)

society Gallery which showed much of Miss Morgan's work during her lifetime when the curator was Mrs. Nellie Montague. This figure represents approximately half of all the galleries in the county.

Playing an active new role in Carmel's art life is the Peninsula chapter of the American Federation of Art, with a membership of well over a thousand and headquarters at Lincoln and Ocean. It was founded three years ago by Mrs. Rama Stearns.

The Carmel Art Association, oldest of all organized art bodies here, had its inception in the 1920's and was incorporated in 1928. Its already-mentioned gallery was the first in Carmel and is believed to be the first artist co-operative gallery on the West Coast.

Yesterday evening the association, headed this year by Mrs. Douglas McGregor, marked Art Week with its annual fall party at the gallery.

Though art classes are available to Carmelites both in the evening division at Monterey Peninsula College and at Carmel Adult School, and art instruction is offered private students by several professional Carmel painters, there is only one separately owned and operated school of art, the Carmel Art Institute in the Court of the Golden Bough.

Incorporated in 1955 as a non-profit educational foundation, the school is headed by artists John and Patricia Cunningham, whose students have distinguished themselves on a number of occasions. At the recent California State Fair, for instance, of six awards made to students of all universities, colleges and private art schools, four went to students of the Carmel Art Institute.

The school is operated on an 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. schedule, five days per week and has a present enrollment of 17 students from all parts of the country. Founded in 1938 by Kit Whitman and Armin Hansen, the institute was purchased two years later by the Cunninghams.

Based on the premise so well proved by Miss Morgan herself, that art knows no retirement age, is the painting class offered at the Carmel Foundation Town House. Divided into still life and portrait divisions, the popular activity always has its full quota of 15 participants in each. Donna Davis is the instructor.

For the past decade the Town House has also offered for public viewing the work of local artists, prominent visitors and members in a show which changes monthly.

Running concurrently with the Bach Festival is Carmel's religious art show at the Church of the Wayfarer which in recent years has attracted wide attention.

Art has also traditionally had its representatives in city government in Carmel. Meeting in a city hall, which last year itself became a permanent gallery-art museum, displaying significant works of deceased local artists, the current council includes Francis Whitaker, of the Forge in the Forest, metal artist. Members of the current arts commission are Geza St. Galy, a mosaicist, Rupert Leach and Richard Lofton, artists.

For the open house and show at the Morgan studio, Mrs. Klenke will be assisted by one of her sister's former art students, Gerald Lester Stout.

Other assistants, patrons and honor guests include: Mayor and Mrs. Eben Whittlesey, the Reverend and Mrs. David Hill, the Reverend and Mrs. Peter Farmer, the Reverend and Mrs. H. M. M. Nicholas, Mrs. D. Douglas McGregor, president of the Carmel Art Association, Mrs. Nellie Montague, Mrs. Edda Heath Pappel, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson M. Leoni, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Forbes, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Edward, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Holman, Miss Anita Doud, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Jan Vecki, Mrs. Cleve Stout of Fresno, Mrs. W. M. O'Donnell, Mr. and Mrs. Carmel Martin Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth V. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Nix, Miss Blanche Tolmie, Dr. Paula Tobias, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Elstob, Colonel and Mrs. Willard Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Gunnar Norberg, Herbert Heron, Dr. and Mrs. K. Dr. Marasco is a non-conforming use. In his new location he will have off-street parking and more favorable facilities, he said this morning.

Commissioners decided to hold a special meeting on the gas station overlay zone next week, Tuesday at 4 p.m. All but one of Carmel's ten gas stations are non-conforming uses. The proposed overlay zone would give them legal status as conditional uses in a zone superimposed on the commercial services and motel zones of the business district. Only part of the commercial area where service stations now are allowed, under conditional uses, is at the northeast corner of the business district.

A public hearing on rezoning ten pieces of city property, including the beach and sand dunes, into natural park and natural park with recreation facilities use was set for November 21.

In other rezoning matters, commissioners approved a landscaped parking facility on one lot at the southwest corner of Dolores and Fourth requested by Robert Koplan; also recommended that the city council reclassify 13 lots at the southeast and southwest corners of Junipero and Third from C-2 and C-1-S use to C-1-L. They decided to postpone, indefinitely, action on similar reclassification of ten lots at the northeast and northwest corners of San Carlos and Eighth as the owner of the land, Paul Hill, objected to the change, also because commissioners judged this property is not at a main entrance to the business zone and is adjacent to only one residence.

Rio Vista Protests Nursing Home

deny a use permit to the convent for the home.

A hearing on application for the permit has been set for 2:05 p.m. on 30 October, during the regular planning commission session at the court house in Salinas.

Spokesmen for the property owners' group said signatures on the petition represent a unanimous opinion of all property owners with the exception of a few absentee owners who could not be located for comment.

They said the group firmly opposes the development for rest-home purposes of the narrow nine-acre strip which has a 90-foot frontage on the Carmel Valley road next to the exclusive residential tract and approximately across the road from the Carmel Junior High School.

A particular target for protest is the plan for a service lane from the Valley road running right along the edge of Rancho Rio Vista over open terrain to service the proposed nursing facility which would house, in addition to 30 resident patients, some 20 staff members.

George Walker is attorney for the property owners' group.

Two other items concerning Carmel Valley properties and one downtown also appear on the agenda of the planning commission's forthcoming session.

A rezoning hearing on Green Meadows Inc., which plans a golf course, club and accessory facilities along Carmel Valley Road near the Wolter's Market and ranch, has been set for 10:30 a.m. with a use permit hearing to follow at 11 a.m.

Hearing on a request for a special permit for a trailer park and campsite at Limekiln Creek below Big Sur has been set at 9:20 a.m.

SAFeway AWARD

Willard E. Burks, meat department manager of the Carmel Rancho Safeway Store since it opened in 1961, was recently honored by Safeway Stores, Incorporated, at a luncheon held in San Jose, for his outstanding courtesy and service to customers.

Burks and five other Safeway employees were presented with merchandise prizes and special badges.

In presenting the awards M. B. Houser, retail operations manager for Safeway's San Francisco division, noted that while all of the division's 3300 retail store employees are eligible to be so honored only six are selected each month.
